Hunt Construction has been awarded the contract to build the $800M Barclays Center in Brooklyn, Nets officials confirmed. The 675,000-square-foot arena will contain 18,000 seats, 104 suites, two public concourses and a premium restaurant. Construction has already started, with a temporary railyard completed and upgrades to sewer and water infrastructure underway. Hunt recently ordered $50M worth of steel to build the arena. The facility is scheduled to open in '12.
